THE VOICE OF UNIVERSITY CITY

WINTER 2025 - 2026

Serving Seniors with Fun Programs and Special Services

As the year winds down and the holiday season draws near, we're reminded of the importance of celebrating the generations of people who have helped shape our community.

In University City, this includes honoring our many older residents who grew up here, raised their families here, and remain deeply woven into the fabric of local life.

A COMMUNITY THAT CARES. This holiday season, University City celebrates the generations who helped shape our neighborhoods, schools and traditions. Whether it's sharing laughs over bingo, stretching in yoga class, or receiving a reassuring home safety visit, seniors here are surrounded by a community that values connection, respect and care.

FRIENDSHIP AND FUN. At the Heman Park Community Center, "Laughter, Lunch and Bingo" is more than a catchy name. It's a place where neighbors gather for a hot meal, plenty of laughs and a few friendly games. The games offer more than entertainment; they build community, helping seniors make new friends while reconnecting with old ones.

LIFELONG LEARNING AND WELLNESS. The University City Public Library has become a hub for enrichment. Seniors can explore chair yoga, arts workshops and monthly "lunch-and-learn" sessions on topics ranging from fitness and safety to estate planning. With food, fellowship and fresh ideas, these gatherings nourish both body and mind.

SUPPORT AT HOME. University City's Senior Resources connect residents with services that make life easier and safer. From complimentary home safety checks provided by the Fire Department to transportation, handyman help and caregiver support, these programs allow seniors to remain independent while giving families peace of mind.

University City is proud to honor its seniors, the very people who built the foundation of our community. We encourage you to take part in these opportunities, show up, and meet new friends. Together, we'll keep University City strong, connected, and thriving for every generation.

Dear Neighbors

As we begin a new year, we are proud to see University City thriving with fresh energy and momentum. Both commercial and residential developments continue to flourish, from the new hotel and apartments on the City's eastern edge, in the Loop to the Market at Olive, and new residential projects on the western edge. Exciting growth is taking place across all three wards.

While most residents agree that growth is essential to University City's long-term vitality, we also recognize that it brings change. As neighborhoods evolve, landscapes shift and new opportunities emerge, we are listening closely to your concerns about issues such as flooding, traffic and housing affordability. These concerns are real and they guide our ongoing efforts to ensure that growth benefits everyone in our community.

We are working diligently to address these issues while continuing to invest in what makes University City strong – our parks, our streets, our public safety services and most importantly, our residents. We may not always agree on every issue, but we remain committed to open dialogue and to finding new ways to make our beloved City an even better place to live, work, learn and visit.

Let's also remember what makes University City truly special. Throughout the St. Louis region we are known and respected for our diversity, inclusiveness and our sincere embrace of people from all walks of life. We are a welcoming community that values and benefits from different ideas and perspectives.

In today's world, it's easy to be misled by misinformation on social media. Despite our differences, we are united in caring deeply about our community. Yes, University City will continue to grow. Yes, we will keep listening and working together. And yes, our shared commitment to this City will continue to move us forward.

Construction Updates: Projects Finishing in Early 2026

Three major construction projects, totaling more than a quarter-million square feet, are on track for completion in early 2026, bringing enhanced city services, expanded shopping options and new job opportunities to University City.

TRANSFORMATION OF HISTORIC TRINITY AND ANNEX BUILDINGS

Opening in February 2026, the University City Police Department (UCPD) will begin moving into its new, state-of-the-art headquarters in the renovated Annex building, allowing the 10-year-old temporary mobile units to be removed from the site. The new public entrance on the east side of the Annex Building will provide a more accessible experience to both City Hall and UCPD.

At the same time, the Municipal Courts will begin relocating to the meticulously renovated 8,512-sq. ft. Trinity building, which has been transformed with a large, light-filled courtroom, in addition to flexible meeting spaces and improved access to the City Clerk's office.

Historic and lead architect Trivers, along with contractor ICS Construction Services, have preserved the buildings' defining features while updating them to meet the city's future needs. Parking and site work will continue through fall 2026.

DIERBERGS – MARKET AT OLIVE

By the end of 2025, the new 75,000-sq. ft. Dierbergs store will reach several milestones, including completion of the building enclosure – roof, masonry, storefronts and more – and the pouring of interior slabs for both back-of-house operations and the main sales floor. Mechanical rough-ins will also be well underway. Interior finish work is set to begin in early January, keeping the project on track for completion in Spring 2026.

TARGET – MARKET AT OLIVE

Construction of the new 148,000-sq. ft. Target will advance to interior finishes such as polished concrete floors, tile, paint and carpeting. Walls will be in place and mechanical and electrical rough-ins will be complete. In addition to the expansive retail space, the project includes a two-level parking structure with approximately 476 spaces. Shoppers can look forward to a vibrant, modern store experience when doors open.

Thanks to the development team of Bob Clark (Clayco), Larry Chapman (Seneca Commercial Real Estate), Caroline Saunders (general counsel), and David Hutkin (Hutkin Properties Group, LLC), the Market at Olive continues to thrive as a vibrant shopping destination.

Reservations are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis, so early booking is encouraged. For more information or to make a reservation, please call 314.505.8625.

Snow and Ice Removal

Snow and ice control is a difficult and time-consuming operation. We need help from residents to enable us to clear the streets promptly and completely. Crews can do a better job of plowing when cars are not parked on the street. Residents can assist us by moving parked vehicles off the street until plowing has been completed.

ROADWAYS

Snow and ice crews are there to help you reach your destination safely. Please yield the right-of-way when you encounter snow removal or ice control equipment if you can do so safely. Also keep back at least 50 feet from snow or ice control equipment and do not pass or drive through the plowed snow as you could lose control of your vehicle.

DRIVEWAYS AND PRIVATE PROPERTY

City snowplows will not clear private driveways or other private property such as parking lots or school driveways, except in a verified emergency.

The equipment used to clear snow from the street may leave a ridge of snow across driveways or where the sidewalk meets the street. It is the responsibility of property owners to remove the ridge of snow or ice left by the City's snow plowing equipment. Snow should be removed to the sides of the driveway and not back into the street. Residents or private contractors are prohibited from blowing or pushing snow into or across the street or leaving snow in the street as a result of cleaning their sidewalk or drive.

JOINT JURISDICTION WITH ST. LOUIS COUNTY/STATE

The following streets are the responsibility of St. Louis County and the State of Missouri for snow and ice removal.

University City has something to celebrate! The Delmar Loop has been officially named America's first Digital Mainstreet, a new kind of neighborhood that blends technology, creativity and community spirit.

Led by iNeighborhoods and BEAR Studios, a student group from Washington University, this initiative brings new digital tools and smart technology to University City and the Delmar Loop to make it safer, more connected and even more vibrant for residents, visitors, businesses and educators.

Think of it as a modern Main Street, where art, culture, local businesses and public spaces are supported by cutting-edge tools like community video, analytics and technology created by local students and entrepreneurs.

The project has been designed to enhance community life and attract new opportunities, while keeping the unique character of University City and the Loop alive and thriving.

Digital Archives and Virtual Tour Available on Library Website

University City Public Library (UCPL) is excited to announce that we've recently made a portion of our archival collection available online!

Thanks to a grant administered by the Missouri State Library, University City's historic building permits and permit applications have been digitized and are now available at Missouri Digital Heritage, the State Library's online archive repository. While some of the permits are a bit hard to read — the older ones were handwritten and already fading when they were originally scanned to microfilm almost 50 years ago — these documents are valuable for University City residents hoping to learn more about the history of their home.

These digitized records join a pair of other collections of University City history available on Missouri Digital Heritage — the Delmar Loop Photograph Collection and the University City Image Collection. Links to all of these online archives are available on the Local History page of our website: www.icitylibrary.org/local-history.

Also available on our website is a virtual tour of UCPL. Thanks to film company Midwest Pano, you can now tour the library online and check out all public areas, including meeting rooms, auditorium and the new Studio and Makerspace, both open every week! Check out the tour by clicking the Virtual Tour link in the About Us menu on the UCPL website: www.icitylibrary.org.

New Playgrounds Coming Soon to Metcalfe and Rabe Parks

Two favorite University City parks are getting even better!

Before the end of the year, brand-new playgrounds will be installed at both Metcalfe Park and Rabe Park, bringing fresh energy and fun to these popular community spaces.

The upgrades are part of the City's ongoing initiative to replace older, outdated playground equipment with modern, inclusive and user-friendly play areas offering hours of fun for families. Thanks to a major boost from a $78,000 GameTime grant, these long-awaited improvements are now possible.

Each new playground will include professional installation and features including swing sets and separate play areas for ages 2 to 5 and 5 to 12.

When the new playgrounds open, families are encouraged to stop by, explore and celebrate the next generation of play in University City parks, where community connections grow stronger and every visit brings a smile.

Recycling Right! Stricter Rules Apply to Paper

From Thanksgiving to New Year's Day, household waste increases by more than 25%. Recycle your used cardboard, gift paper and other approved recyclables from the holidays in your curbside recycling cart.

Remember new guidelines. Your paper will still be recycled but stricter rules apply for curbside recycling. Newspapers, magazines and envelopes are now subject to more stringent overseas standards. Recycling centers in China no longer accept paper that is even slightly soiled by food, liquids or other products.

A great way to recycle right is to find new uses for items instead of throwing them away. Also avoid "wish-cycling" by putting an item you know is not recyclable into your recycling bin. Most important, consider pre-cycling by purchasing items that come in recyclable packaging.

FOLLOW THIS GUIDE TO RECYCLE RIGHT

Recycle only dry paper not contaminated by food, liquid, or other products.

Narrowing the Gap By Chief Larry Hampton, Jr.

Narrowing the gap between modern crime and 21st-century public safety is an ongoing action plan. Traditional strategies have been recycled for decades, but today's criminal activity demands innovative approaches. "Best practices" offer a baseline, yet bad actors adapt quickly, forcing law enforcement to stay agile, creative and forward-looking. Hoax calls targeting schools, religious institutions and government buildings highlight both the challenges and opportunities to increase vigilance, communication and community awareness.

The University City Police Department (UCPD) continues to invest in technology, training, equipment and personnel to strengthen engagement with residents and businesses. Collaboration is central. Open two-way communication with commercial districts and community partners keeps strategies flexible and effective. Fortunately, University City's 6.1 square miles makes it possible to initiate rapid, coordinated responses between police, fire, public works and forestry.

Officers deploy advanced tools including drone technology, a modern fleet, hundreds of surveillance cameras and wellness programs supporting officer resilience. Regional partnerships expand capabilities, while ongoing training through Missouri and Illinois academies ensure officers stay current with the latest skills and strategies.

Hiring practices also set UCPD apart. We employ one of the region's most rigorous background processes, including written and physical exams, drug and psychological testing, home interviews, past employer checks and medical evaluations. This investment results in the best officers and the most trust between the department and community.

By combining modern tools with deep-rooted partnerships, UCPD continues to build a responsive, forward-thinking department. Public safety demands constant adaptation to changing conditions and emerging threats. Through resilience, preparation and collaboration, University City stands ready to respond effectively to challenges that might overwhelm larger jurisdictions.

The UCPD remains committed to protecting citizens, businesses and stakeholders. By investing in innovation, training and strong community ties, we continue the active process of "Narrowing the Gap."

Holiday Fire Safety Tips

The holidays not only bring cozy nights, glowing lights and time with family, but also an increased risk of fire in our homes. Two of the most common hazards this time of year are live Christmas trees and candles.

Your University City Fire Department wants to help you keep the season joyful and safe. With a few simple precautions, you can make sure your celebrations are remembered for laughter and good company, not fire emergencies.

CHRISTMAS TREE SAFETY

- Choose a Fresh Tree: Fresh needles are green, hard to pull off and bend without breaking.
- Water Daily: Always keep the tree stand filled so the cut end is covered with water. A dry tree can ignite in seconds.
- Place with Care: Keep at least three feet away from fireplaces, space heaters and radiators.
- Inspect Lights: Check for frayed wires, broken bulbs or loose connections. Turn lights off before going to bed or leaving home.
- Dispose Promptly: Don't let a dried-out tree linger. Remove it from your home soon after the holidays.

CANDLE SAFETY

- Never Leave Unattended: Always blow out candles before leaving the room or going to bed.
- Keep Clear: Place candles at least a foot from anything flammable like decorations, curtains or paper, and out of children's reach.
- Use Sturdy Holders: Place candles in stable holders on flat, uncluttered surfaces.
- Consider Alternatives: Flameless, battery-operated candles give a safe holiday glow.

From all of us at the University City Fire Department: Have a safe, happy and fire-free holiday season!
